KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

Leadership Resilience and Post Traumatic Growth

Greg Heibert
Leadership Educator, (Coach), and Consultant
LeaderShipForward

Great leaders provide calm, confidence, and courage to their teams and organizations during great storms, difficulties, and adversities, certainly like the immense impact COVID-19 has had on our healthcare delivery systems. Whether you are in a leadership position or act as an “informal” leader or mentor at your cancer program or practice, learn how to turn difficult experiences into positive learning and growth for yourself and others. Come away with resources that leaders can use to help their colleagues, teams, and organizations be more resilient, and use adversity as a means to be stronger, more focused, and compassionate.

Addressing the Disparity of Women in Oncology

Nick Smith-Stanley, MBA
Associate Director of Administration & Strategic Planning
LIVESTRONG Cancer Institutes, Dell Medical School

Learn about the Summer Healthcare Experience (SHE) in Oncology which hosts high school students in a week-long, immersion program that introduces them to cancer biology, research, survivorship, and care. Piloted in 2019, the SHE program is the first-of-its-kind to specifically address the disparity of women in oncology. The innovative curriculum combines education, exposure, and mentoring to help grow the next generation of leaders. Hear firsthand from a student participant about what she learned and how it impacted her personal and professional growth. Then consider becoming part of the solution by partnering with your local schools to develop a similar equity initiative at your program or practice.
